E-mail only:

Dear

FOI Request: 22/2020

I write in connection with your request for information received in the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner for Derbyshire on 4 May 2020, as follows:

I write with reference to anti cyclist bias in the Derbyshire force which has been very visible recently. What concerns me is that even in dealing with the original complaint about an inappropriate tweet, the person dealing it has demonstrated ignorance of the facts, and an anti cycling bias.

Here is a link to the article. I am sure that you will agree that the best approach to Policing, or any public policy, is based on evidence. In the article the officer investigating states:

"We fully appreciate that people have the right to daily exercise, but we were finding people travelling extensive distances into the county to do this. Our concern is the added burden this causes to the emergency services and health service should they be involved in an incident. "

I would like to enquire what evidence they have that additional strain to the emergency services is likely to be the outcome of people choosing to take their daily exercise through a bicycle ride? If this is enough of a problem to warrant public statements by the Police, I would imagine there must certainly be hard facts behind the policy.

Cycling is one of the most popular and effective forms of exercise, particularly in the target demographic for reduction of overweight and obesity, to decrease risk of heart disease, cancer, and diabetes, all of which put massive strain on the NHS.

Discouraging people from cycling, or implying in any way that the Police believe that cycling for exercise is irresponsible, or against the law, or spirit of lockdown legislation will, without any doubt, have adverse consequences on public health.

So this can only be a desirable outcome if the benefit of reduction in pressure on emergency services through reduction in accidents related to cycling, is greater than the consequence of Police discouragement of recreational cycling.

Please could you share with me the data which was analysed to make this conclusion. If this research was not done, then it would appear that Policing policy is done on the fly, without reference to facts, or evidence, and is therefore as likely to be counter-productive, as it is to be productive.

It would appear that Derbyshire Police are suffering from ignorance, and anti cycling bias. This is a great shame. I am a former Police Officer myself, and a member of a cycling team of which a number of members are serving Police Officers. Perhaps more of your officers should get out on bikes, and exercise their bodies and brains more, to operate to a higher standard, and stop bringing Policing into disrepute.'
